

Survive Martial Law

A very serious and terribly scary thing is happening right now, and it's not even secret, as it's available to all who are awake enough to search it out. Even if you don't believe it now, hopefully you will after reading this piece. I am going to show you a way to survive the implementing of vicious Martial Law coming in 2008. Millions will starve to death or be killed, and the Government hasn't done anything to prevent it. In fact, it's fine with them, as genocide is also in their plans. These pages are about basic survival and why things are as they have become. I'll show you what is happening, what is going to happen, and why it is going to affect us all. Then at the end I will tell you critical things that you will need to do, without exception, to stay alive. It's not a complicated list but just a few essentials. Please try to do as I suggest. I've spent years in combat and Martial Law zones, often as a combatant. As a result, I have learned quite a lot about how these things are played out. This is probably the most important information you've ever had about staying alive while others die, so read it and pay close attention. Knowledge, although simple, can mean power... it means your very life in the days to come soon!

Most of the things I'm going to discuss in these pages you will immediately recognize as the pure truth... You've heard enough about it to know it's real. I'm just removing all the bull and soft sell for you. Things are happening all around us, but generally we've been too busy or tired, or we've been too preoccupied with sports or money or other plans to think for ourselves anymore. I'll show you what's going on in the real world - not the watered down so-called "news" you get from the major media. It's even available via hundreds of articles from true newsmen and women, the Internet and many other sources! The big difference is that I haven't been put under restrictions as have many reporters. I've spent years studying and reading for several hours every day and am simply following the commentary of a very few honest people. I will provide links and references at the end of this article which may explain why important items are broadcast all over the world, but nothing is mentioned here in the land of the free. It will be enough to prove what I say - as if the government hasn't already!

Survive Martial Law

Nothing here is my opinion but simply the result of intense study, as I have an interest in the function of government and the manner in which ours is falling apart. America is my country, and I am deeply concerned about what is happening. It's hard to believe but we are only a heartbeat away from Martial Law - the very serious kind - so get your mind clear and read! A Secret Service Operative called me and said he'd heard the government was going to allow a city to be vaporized very soon to trigger Martial Law. He walked away, took his family, and caught a freighter to the South Seas.

A lot of people advocate armed resistance to the coming restrictions on our liberty. That is AN ENTIRELY SEPARATE SITUATION from what I'm talking about here and is your own business. This information is for the regular guy who has no military ambitions or skills but wants to know how to continue living for the next year to harvest another crop when - hopefully - things will have settled down a little. The martial law situations I've been involved with personally usually are the most deadly during the implementation... the early months. Armed resistance is an issue you must decide on yourself. From my considerable experience of years of Special Forces combat and the implementation of martial law, I can tell you Mr. Joe Blow citizen will cause more death and distress with his deer hunting experience and "Rambo" mentality than anybody. Because a man is angry and has a normal desire to protect what is 'HIS' does not give him the training or ability to confront highly trained troops. I must applaud his sincerity, but from what I've been hearing, it looks like a group of people here and there without plan or structure or a "leader", supply lines, and the host of back-end people it takes to keep just one effective front-line combatant operating has no chance of success. My agenda is different and applies to just "regular folks" trying to get through this mess in one piece. So, you say, "I have a handgun". Well, what do you intend to do with it? The guy down the street who wants your cans of beans might be intimidated, but if you pointed it at me, I'd take it away from you in 2 seconds and then what would you do? Really - think about it... what would you do? One important fact about shooting is that even a stationary target is hard to hit with any accuracy by a beginner. What if it's moving?

Survive Martial Law

What about the “pause” nearly every inexperienced person has where there is a second or so while you get your mind fixed. An experienced combatant will use those split seconds to kill you quite dead. What if you actually fire your weapon during Martial Law and the report is heard by roaming troops who come running? There you will be, a civilian with a recently fired gun...when it will be illegal to even possess the gun at all! What will you do then?

I get hundreds of emails daily and spend an enormous amount of time answering them. Many of the questions are regarding my suggestion to avoid having guns on the premises, borne from my experience with REAL Martial Law. Most are from just regular folks who don't understand anything about guns. A lot are from women who are afraid of the typical Martial Law rapes. I understand that issue and have seen the backlash of it, but I ask them to think it through. What will you do if 3-4 armed men enter your house? Are you equipped to handle a shoot-out? What about the 3 guys who are looking for food and decide to rape you in the process? What about the vicious young thugs who are out to hurt and rape anyone and don't care one bit about your pleas? It goes on and on and is a legitimate concern. Basically, it's part and parcel of a collapsing society. Handguns recoil or 'jerk', and it takes a second or more to re-aim and fire again. Will you 'jerk' also? To an assailant, that's a lot of time... time enough to disarm you and here we go again!

Consider this: Pepper Spray will disable the meanest men alive only if it's the 17% strength and not the lousy 10% stuff sold everywhere. Get the 17% from the Internet or special order it. (Google “17% Pepper Spray”). It's designed for BEARS! It's not just 7% stronger - it's exponentially stronger, so it's really many, many times stronger and will do the job. Keep 2 or 3 one pound cans at home and always have a 6-7 oz. can on your person (best in your hand if walking) and forget those useless key chain toys sold by all the companies. You can immediately disable 5-6 men with it and not get killed fumbling around with a one-shot-at-a-time pistol... that very pistol which will get you arrested if found on or near you.

Survive Martial Law

Lastly, I recommend a Ka-Bar combat style knife (about $50) - razor sharp! If confronted, push it hard into the upper belly, twist it and pull it out. With a knife, the target points are the front of the neck and the upper belly – use it and then run like hell! The Ka-bar has a special handle that won't get slippery with blood. When society breaks down, people get mean, so be prepared!

This information is about basic survival in buying inexpensive foods (rather than the costly and “high profit” long term storage items now selling all over the ‘Net). I will also tell you how to act around young and aggressive combatant troops without pissing them off so they will either kill you or send you off to one of the 800 Concentration Camps in the USA right now! I have been a military advisor who taught occupying troops, so I know why some people die while others live for a better day. There are just a few behaviors to practice. It's also clear that in the first few months of violent Martial Law, there's a time many people starve to death not only because the government won't give them food, but because it usually isn't available. This year is worse, as it's also the worst crop harvest for 200 years. I will simply try to keep you and your family alive for the next year. Whatever else you do is YOUR OWN BUSINESS. I won't comment on it here, as it's a personal decision and a complicated mess.

I will guide you to relative safety and, if you can follow a few simple moves, I will lead you to a way you can survive this coming horror. It will not be, however, without some discomfort and struggle. I'm going to give you accounts of the situations that led up to the present crisis, so stay with me. At this point in time you may think it's really nothing and that your government will ultimately insure your protection, but reading these few pages will dramatically change your life and, unless you are in total denial, it will trigger you to do a few things to insure staying alive for the next year. It's the critical year! Read every word! Most people I speak with simply scoff at this as being paranoid or reactionary. Having seen the multitude of bodies piled on streets, I assure you the lion ready to attack you is really in the bush!

Survive Martial Law

The United States of America has established a propaganda program that nearly all Americans have bought into. I'm always amazed at people thinking they can accomplish anything with the 'vote'. All major heads of state are decided by the Power-Elite a year in advance in the sick atmosphere of the Bohemian Grove in Northern California... not just the US but the whole bloody world!!!

In one sense, it's true that Americans have the most "stuff" of everyone on this earth. Just the average lower income family is rich compared to BILLIONS of people who struggle to live daily. We have been a great country in a material sense. We have everything we could want, but we still want more and have typically allowed ourselves to be brainwashed into working long hours or two jobs at the cost of real quality of life as we run on this sick wheel. Things have been so easy here that people I talk with and feedback from this article indicate people believe a savior of the people will come riding in at the last moment - nothing really horrible will happen. We've been conditioned for years to believe this crap. We've isolated ourselves in front of the TV where the good guy always wins. Personal interaction is not to be trusted. Over half of all marriages fail, and most of those who remain together violate trust. Why? Because cheating and lying are readily accepted and encouraged by the endless hours of television (mind) programming. TV feeds the population with absurd and childlike ideas. Real friendships are truly rare, and our close "people contact", other than with our direct family, is nearly non-existent. We've withdrawn into our houses and are manipulated by an ignorant and controlled media. Instead of association with our neighbors, we play video games. We've made our own beds and closed our eyes and now will reap what we've sown.

The Government has drafted the plans to bring this previously free country (a country that is already a Police State by all definitions I've heard or read) under severe Martial Law for "our own good". Most of us will support it... because we've been conditioned to. FEMA, which appears to be an organization designed to help citizens in an emergency situation, has been building the largest secret Military ever known and has awesome powers given by various Presidents via Executive Orders (I'll address that later) that give it the ability to control Congress. It will control the Military and the hundreds of thousands of foreign troops already housed on US Military bases to assist in the force necessary to implement population control. They will also use hired "contractors" whose violent history we're seeing in Iraq. There are literally hundreds of concentration camps hidden throughout the US, and each can house about 20,000+ inmates! Some have ovens to burn bodies in a manner similar to Germany in WWII but much more high tech. I've seen some of the Camps but not the ovens, although they are referred to by credible sources who know. I have seen videos of them and, with my history, I wouldn't be shocked, but 'ovens to burn bodies' freak out even an old soldier like me! Search it out yourself. In conclusion, I have listed websites with many sub-sites that will change your thinking and prove all I write here. Those who talk about the ovens have written many very credible articles and are trusted men. The ovens exist! This may be hard to believe but keep reading. This article is about 'how to stay alive'!

America is in awful trouble, yet hardly anyone knew about it for sure until recent weeks. Massive changes are about to occur and will shock most of us as we live in a disintegrating country. It will happen overnight before early spring of 2008, but it looks like very soon! The situation is ready to strike, and most of us still go about our business of making plans for a future that will never happen - at least not in the way we think. Nearly every household has a computer, and there are questions with solid answers to 100's of questions, but it's a major job finding them. I have a few listed on this site... but you must click on them! I've done the work for you. All you need to do is read this article and then click on or copy and paste the website links at the end of it. Some are huge with many sub-sites, so pick what you read carefully. There are hundreds of videos, letters and plans on what America will be like in just a short time. It's all interesting, but the main thing I teach is about "how to survive" this violent Martial Law where millions will suffer and die. Shocking? You bet, but it's very real. Is it hard to believe? Certainly!

Survive Martial Law

The life you've known is about over, so your thinking and behaviors must conform to what will be your "new reality" if you want to stay alive for a better day.

The government has prepared us by telling us we need "security" and triggered our emotions using the attack on our soil most commonly known as "the 9/11 attack on America". And who exactly was responsible for that? It has been said it was done by corrupt leaders and soon-to-be dictators of the USA... yes folks, the destruction and murders done in New York in 2001 were actually done by people you turned your life over to. Don't stop reading now because what I am saying can be proven. Have the guts to face this thing! This war and the fears they desired among the population were accomplished. Most Americans are duped into believing anything they are told and have reacted like puppets on a string. Who really brought those buildings down? You tell me. We all know, and it's been proven that it was a "controlled demolition". I never speak of it. Our freedoms under our now defunct Constitution have been rapidly eroding and many are gone, but most Americans don't know it because it's not on the 5:00 p.m. news. Perhaps you've spent too much time in your easy chair and let other men plan your life for you. You can stay in your chair - as long as you at least do the few things I have written about on the pages of this article. If you don't do it, then the day will come when you and the ones you love will slowly die, and it will be YOUR FAULT! This is no game here. The people forcing change on your life are vicious and full of hate.

We live in a system where there's a pill for everything. A major cause of death in this country is screw-ups by doctors, and an additional cause is nurses giving the wrong drugs! Dealing with the medical establishment is more dangerous than Vietnam, but that's what we do here... we "go to the doctor" because we've become victims of the medical/industrial complex. Being the major first world country creates many problems we are so used to that we don't see them. The USA is so incompetent in general medicine that we are, in fact, "number 37 in quality" of all the 1st world countries. All looks normal to us, so the shock value that would cause us to change isn't there.

Survive Martial Law

The people behind the 9/11 assault knew we needed a major ‘shock’ to be able to “manipulate” the people, so they created it. It would take a fool to believe the insane story about the plane going into the Pentagon, as there is absolutely no proof, and I’ve spent two years looking. There are literally thousands of testimonies to prove the “official” story of the Twin Towers is crap, but whoever did it, accomplished what it was designed to do... they provided the shock needed to “start the control” of the citizens of America. Do you think this is bad? Wait until the next assault coming very, very soon!!

Preparations are basically finished, and we’re ready for Martial Law and a Dictator --- and folks, it looks like we have one. “Directive 51” (Google it!) makes one man the sole responsible person for all American government. What is that called??? Believe this or not, life as we know it is changing in a few weeks or maybe months... here and evidently around the world, and it will happen while you watch television. Even CNN and FOX (which used to be decent news) are providing nothing but filtered information. In your heart, you know it. Accurate truth is available, but we have to search it out for ourselves, and that’s what I’ve spent years doing. The information here is reliable! Again, I offer you no opinions. I have some, but facts are all that’s important, and that’s all you’ll get from me.

We worry about the few deaths in our wars, when 40,000 people die in automobile accidents in the USA every year and 400,000 die worldwide with an additional 2 million maimed so they can’t function. I don’t mean to undermine the sacrifice of our troops (I was one for 3 years in Vietnam), but I’m just giving perspective about mind control. You see, folks, if you see something or are exposed long enough to something, you get “used” to it and the impact is absent. That’s why those who are going to control us in what’s called “The New World Order” needed to shock us and - have you noticed? - they keep talking about it every day. Americans are an egotistical bunch. How dare anyone mess with us! It’s that cocky attitude that contributes to people around the world wanting our money but hating us as people. We are not pleasant people in general. We think we’re beyond criticism, yet we’ve become lazy and easy to control. But I will show you how to keep alive in spite of it if you read on.

“Without your life you have nothing”. Starvation is a horrible way to die. Yet it continues to happen to millions of people worldwide and, if it happens to you after reading this booklet, it's your own fault entirely!! How would you respond to seeing your child die from lack of basics after I've told you how to avoid it and keep it silent? Before going further, don't even tell anyone about what I'm going to tell you... if that's your plan, just stop now - throw this away and I'll give you your money back. I mean it...

DO NOT TELL ANYONE WHAT YOU ARE ABOUT TO LEARN OR JUST FORGET IT. YOU'LL LOSE AND LIKELY SUFFER AND DIE, AND IT WILL BE BECAUSE YOU DIDN'T KEEP YOUR MOUTH SHUT OR YOU THOUGH YOU COULD "TRUST SOMEONE". BUT WHEN THE SHIT HITS THE FAN, YOUR BEST FRIEND OR BROTHER WILL RAT YOU OFF - AS PROVEN MANY TIMES BY THOSE IN SIMILAR SITUATIONS!!! PERHAPS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN YOUR LIFE DON'T TELL A SINGLE PERSON "NO MATTER WHO". We're not playing a game here!

Knowledge is the key to taking correct action, and what shocks me even now is that life "appears" to be going along "normally" and functioning well enough, even though the entire United States is now under the control of a Top Secret Government that has been established over the past several years. Multiple BILLIONS of the entire Federal Budget (very effectively hidden) have been spent on a monster Military of a great many combatants (as of 2007). It is one of the best equipped armies on earth! The combatants are housed in hundreds of detainee/concentration camps, and I have listed some of the Executive Orders issued to make it all happen. Included here are pictures and videos and the literal addresses of the Camps. I've personally seen several and was run off by men with M-16's. Without a warning, our lives are about to change radically folks, and in just weeks we'll see things that will erode into full and very deadly Martial Law. The plans are made and we now have a Dictator per "Directive 51". It just hasn't been triggered. The force to make it happen is here, and our trust of those in government is grossly misplaced. Be sure you check out the websites at the end of this article. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) does many things to help people in times of emergencies. It has, however, control over the Military I just spoke of. In fact, as hard as it may be for you to believe, there are many foreign troops here on American soil... they came in via the Mexican desert and off-loaded thousands of tanks, etc. in Gulfport, Mississippi right in front of everyone - but who cared?

The best way to go unnoticed is to do something right under your adversary's nose. FEMA is the umbrella under which multiple sub-organizations will function. Here is a description of this massive organization:

FEMA - The Secret Government

Some people have referred to it as the "secret government" of the United States. It is not an elected body, it does not involve itself in public disclosures, and it even has a quasi-secret budget in the billions of dollars. This government organization has more power than the President of the United States or the Congress, it has the power to suspend laws, move entire populations, arrest and detain citizens without a warrant and hold them without trial, it can seize property, food supplies (which is why you'll need to hide them), transportation systems, and can suspend the Constitution. Not only is it the most powerful entity in the United States, but it was not even created under Constitutional law by the Congress. It was a product of a series of Presidential Executive Orders. No, it is not the U.S. military.

The organization is called FEMA, which stands for the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Originally conceived in the Richard Nixon Administration, it was refined by President Jimmy Carter and Bill Clinton and given teeth in the Ronald Reagan and George Bush Administrations. FEMA had one original concept when it was created - to assure the survivability of the United States government in the event of a nuclear attack on this nation. It was also provided with the task of being a federal coordinating body during times of domestic disasters, such as earthquakes, floods and hurricanes. Its awesome powers grew under the tutelage of people like Lt. Col. Oliver North and General Richard Secord, the architects of the Iran-Contra scandal and the looting of America's savings and loan institutions. FEMA has even been given control of the State Defense Forces, a rag-tag, often considered neo-Nazi, civilian army that will substitute for the National Guard because the Guard has been called to duty overseas. Some of the remaining 1.1 million US armed forces will also be sent overseas... very soon, but many of them are, although still active, the old, untrained and non-combatants. They are paper shufflers.

Survive Martial Law

THE MOST POWERFUL ORGANIZATION IN THE UNITED STATES

Though it may be the most powerful organization in the United States, few people know it even exists. Frankly, the average American doesn't know much of anything. Some of the black helicopter traffic reported throughout the United States, but mainly in the West, California, Washington, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Colorado, is flown by FEMA personnel. FEMA has been given responsibility for many new disasters including urban forest fires, home heating emergencies, refugee situations, urban riots, and emergency planning for nuclear and toxic incidents. In the West, it works in conjunction with the Sixth Army. The USA is divided into 11 control zones for effective FEMA management. (See 'FEMA, the control zones' at the end of this article.)

FEMA was created by a series of Executive Orders. A Presidential Executive Order, whether Constitutional or not, becomes "law" simply by its publication in the Federal Registry. Apparently, as we've recently learned, so can a simple Presidential Directive. Congress is by-passed! It can be legal or illegal but still becomes solid "Law of the Land." Executive Order Number 12148 created the Federal Emergency Management Agency that is to interface with the Department of Defense for civil defense planning and funding.

An "emergency czar" was appointed. FEMA has spent about 6 percent of the national budget on national emergencies, but the bulk of their funding has been used for their army and construction of secret underground facilities to assure continuity of government in case of a major emergency, foreign or domestic. Executive Order Number 12656 appointed the National Security Council as the principal body that should consider emergency powers. This allows the government to increase domestic intelligence and surveillance of U.S. citizens and would restrict the freedom of movement within the United States and grant the government the right to 'isolate' large groups of civilians. The National Guard (mostly foreign troops) will be federalized to seal or control all borders, U.S. air space, and all ports of entry.

Here are just a few of the Executive Orders associated with FEMA that would and will suspend the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. They just need the stroke of President Bush's Presidential pen... this should terrify you! "Directive 51" probably overrides all this anyway.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 10990 allows the government to take over all modes of transportation and control of highways and seaports.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 10995 allows the government to seize and control the communication media.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 10997 allows the government to take over all electrical power, gas, petroleum, fuels and minerals.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 10998 allows the government to take over all food resources and farms.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11000 allows the government to mobilize civilians into work brigades under government supervision.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11001 allows the government to take over all health, education and welfare functions.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11002 designates the Postmaster General to operate a national registration of all persons.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11003 allows the government to take over all airports and aircraft, including commercial aircraft.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11004 allows the Housing and Finance Authority to relocate communities, build new housing with public funds, designate areas to be abandoned, and establish new locations for populations.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11005 allows the government to take over railroads, inland waterways and public storage facilities.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11051 specifies the responsibility of the Office of Emergency Planning and gives authorization to put all Executive Orders into effect in times of increased international tensions and economic or financial crisis or about anything.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11310 grants authority to the Department of Justice to enforce the plans set out in Executive Orders, to institute industrial support, to establish judicial and legislative liaison, to control all aliens, to operate penal and correctional institutions, and to advise and assist the President.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11049 assigns emergency preparedness function to federal departments and agencies, consolidating 21 operative Executive Orders issued over a fifteen year period.

EXECUTIVE ORDER 11921 allows the Federal Emergency Preparedness Agency to develop plans to establish control over the mechanisms of production and distribution, of energy sources, wages, salaries, credit and the flow of money in U.S. financial institutions in any undefined national emergency. It also provides that when a state of emergency is declared by the President, Congress cannot review the action for six months, by LAW... but no doubt that could be cancelled for “national security”.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency has broad powers in every aspect of the nation. General Frank Salzedo, chief of FEMA's Civil Security Division, stated that he saw FEMA's role as a “new frontier in the protection of individual and governmental leaders from assassination, and of civil and military installations from sabotage and/or attack, as well as prevention of dissident groups from ‘gaining access to U.S. opinion, or a global audience in times of crisis.’”

FEMA's powers were consolidated by President Carter to incorporate:

- The National Security Act of 1947, which allows for the strategic relocation of industries, services, government and other essential economic activities, and to rationalize the requirements for manpower, resources and production facilities;
- The 1950 Defense Production Act, which gives the President sweeping powers over all aspects of the economy;
- The Act of August 29, which authorizes the Secretary of the Army, in time of war or internal conflict to take possession of a transportation system for transporting troops, material, or any other purpose related to the emergency, and the
- International Emergency Economic Powers Act, which enables the President to seize the property of a foreign country or nation by force if required - although most countries (except those in the Mideast) are afraid of America so basically do as they are told. Right now US financial computers are extracting money from Central American Banks because so many corporations and wealthy people have 'secured' their money there.

These powers were transferred to FEMA in a sweeping consolidation in 1985. They have everything covered because the original concepts were laid back in 1933 and have grown slowly over the years into what we have today. The "New World Order" in a nutshell will ensure an elite class served by a lower class, and that's about it. True, it's still hundreds of millions of elite people who are served by other hundreds of million workers, so most will have to make a choice to be a worker or dead. I will show you how to stay alive long enough to make that choice, and just perhaps there will be a resistance to drive back the forces that control us, but that must wait for another day. To go into combat with the forces the Government has now is like going against a platoon of Special Forces with a slingshot. Just keep reading and make a decision later when you have more facts. I will not recommend anything... it's up to you and your family, but it is extremely serious and will not go away. One thing I will mention, and many will disagree, but you and your buddies are no match for 50 Special Forces. I was one, and even today would take on 20 guys with hunting rifles (even good shots!), killing them all in 20 minutes! So be peaceable, mind your own business, smile, don't look into a combatant's eyes, look at their belt, do not even suggest being confrontational, and realize that the world is changing and you can do nothing about it. Therefore, please... do not have any weapons of any kind (unless you have thousands of rounds and a quality assault rifle - and then wrap it and bury it for another day). But again, that is your choice. If a resistance does occur down the road, you'll find out guns and explosives will be readily available... they always are. In Central America we shot everyone we caught with a gun, even if it was in a drawer unloaded!! Do what you wish, but listen to the history of violence. It could cause your household immediate execution. If you want, wait until martial law is declared and call the police and take their advice on how to turn them in unless you think you can win over thousands of armed troops. This article is about staying alive, not revolting. There are many websites and talk show people who will tell you that you can win against a trained army with your little pop-gun - nearly all written by assholes who have never been in a firefight but learned their so-called skills from magazines and target shooting and talking big to their buddies. I averaged 18 days a month combat during my 3 years in Special Forces in Vietnam, and it was up North, around Hanoi. The average foot soldier in WWII averaged just 31 days of combat during the entire several year war. Most of the time was in the slow creep across Europe, not fighting. I don't know about Korea.

HURRICANE ANDREW FOCUSED ATTENTION ON FEMA

FEMA's deceptive role really did not come to light for much of the public until Hurricane Andrew smashed into the U.S. mainland. As Russell R. Dynes, director of the Disaster Research Center of the University of Delaware wrote in The World and I, "...The eye of the political storm hovered over the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and FEMA became a convenient target for criticism. Because FEMA was accused of dropping the ball in Florida, the media and Congress commenced to study this agency. What came out of the critical look was that FEMA was spending 12 times more for 'black operations' than for disaster relief. It spent $2.3 billion building secret bunkers throughout the United States in anticipation of government disruption by domestic upheaval. Yet fewer than 20 members of Congress, only members with top security clearance, know of the expenditure by FEMA for non-natural disaster situations. These few Congressional leaders state that FEMA has a "black curtain" around its operations. FEMA has worked on National Security programs since 1979, and its predecessor, the Federal Emergency Preparedness Agency, has secretly spent millions of dollars before being merged into FEMA by President Carter in 1979.

FEMA has developed hundreds of sophisticated mobile units that are capable of sustaining themselves for months. The vehicles are located in five areas of the United States. They have tremendous communication systems, and each contains a generator that would provide power to a small city, but they have never been used for disaster relief... so what are they for?

Survive Martial Law

FEMA's enormous powers can be triggered easily. In any form of domestic or foreign problem, perceived and not always actual, emergency powers can be enacted. The President of the United States now has broad powers to declare martial law, which activates FEMA's extraordinary and terrifying powers.

Martial law can be declared during time of increased tension overseas, economic problems within the United States, such as a depression, lawful civil unrest (including common demonstrations or scenes like the Los Angeles riots), and in a drug crisis or even a dog pissing on a tree! These Presidential powers have increased with each successive Crime Bill, particularly the 1991 and 1993 and other Crime Bills, which increase the power to suspend the rights guaranteed under the Constitution and to seize property of those suspected of being drug dealers or individuals who participate in a public protest or demonstration. And absolutely no proof is required –which extends it to just about anyone! Under emergency plans already in existence, the power exists to suspend the Constitution and turn over the reins of government to FEMA and appoint military commanders to run state and local governments. FEMA then would have the right to order the detention of anyone who they have grounds to believe will or even might want to engage in or “possibly” conspire with others to engage in acts of espionage or sabotage. The plan also authorizes the activation of existing Concentration camps for detaining the accused, but with no trial. Do you understand... no bail, no court or trial?

The typical crisis needed would be the threat of imminent nuclear war, rioting in U.S. cities, national disasters that might cause widespread danger to the populace, terrorist attacks (real or phony), a depression in which there are many unemployed and without financial resources, or a major environmental disaster among others - which covers about anything when they are ready!

THREE TIMES FEMA STOOD BY READY FOR EMERGENCY

In April 1984, President Reagan signed Presidential Directive Number 54 that allowed FEMA to engage in a secret national "readiness exercise" under the code name of “REX 84”.

Survive Martial Law

The exercise was to test FEMA's readiness to assume military authority in the event of a "State of Domestic National Emergency" concurrent with the launching of a direct United States military operation in Central America created by the CIA.

The plan called for the deputation of U.S. military and National Guard units so that they could be used for domestic law enforcement. These units would be assigned to conduct sweeps and take into custody undocumented Central American immigrants in the United States in direct violation of the existing law. The immigrants would be interned at some of the many detention centers set up at military bases throughout the country and the hundreds of prisoner-ready camps. These camps are ready right now (today!), complete with all supplies and guards on site to receive quite a few million people. As hard as it is to believe, there are about 800 of them! Do you get it? There are over 800 real concentration camps in the United States of America!

REX 84 was so highly guarded that special metal security doors were placed on the fifth floor of the FEMA building in Washington, D.C. Even long-standing employees of the Civil Defense of the Federal Executive Department possessing the highest possible security clearances were not being allowed through the newly installed metal security doors. Only personnel wearing a special red lapel pin were allowed onto the premises. Lt. Col. North was responsible for drawing up the emergency plan, which U.S. Attorney General William French Smith opposed vehemently. The plan called for the suspension of the Constitution, turning control of the government over to FEMA, appointment of military commanders to run state and local governments, and the declaration of Martial Law. The Presidential Executive Orders to support such a plan were already in place. The plan also advocated the rounding up and transfer to what they are calling "assembly centers" or "relocation camps" of at least millions of African American Negroes in the event of any rioting or disorder, not unlike the rounding up of the Jews in Nazi Germany in the 1930s. Hispanics are seriously targeted, especially in areas like southern California, South Florida and other areas where there is heavy concentration of any groups that drain heavily on social programs which cost billions.

Survive Martial Law

The second known time that FEMA stood by was in 1990 when Desert Storm was enacted. Prior to President Bush's invasion of Iraq, FEMA began to draft new legislation to increase its already formidable powers. One of the elements incorporated into the plan was to set up operations within any state or locality without the prior permission of local or state authorities. Such prior permission has always been required in the past. Much of the mechanism being set into place was in anticipation of the economic collapse of the Western World. Even now, 2007 crop failures worldwide could easily provide the trigger. Have you bothered to look hard at the international food crops harvested this year or, again, have you let “others” deal with it while you played ball, played video games, drank too much, and exercised being lazy as you watched your T.V. OR did you grow a productive garden?? Sometimes, folks... we get what we get because we are so damn good at doing nothing!

The third scenario for FEMA came with the Los Angeles riots after the Rodney King brutality verdict. Had the rioting spread to other cities, FEMA would have been empowered to step in. As it happened, major rioting only occurred in the Los Angeles area, thus preventing a pretext for a FEMA response. Martial Law was averted but just barely.

On July 5, 1987, the Miami Herald published reports on FEMA's new goals. The goal was to suspend the Constitution in the event of about any national crisis such as nuclear war, violent and widespread “internal dissent”, or national “opposition” to a U.S. military invasion abroad or even legal protests. Lt. Col. North was the architect. National Security Directive Number 52, issued in August 1982, pertains to the "Use of National Guard Troops to Quell Disturbances." The “Posse Comitatus Act”, preventing the Military from acting as police against US citizens, is suspended. It does not exist anymore. Do you know what that really means? Spend some time and think about that one!! The Military can now function as regular police. Now what do you call that? Tell me, what has happened in many countries when the Military was allowed to control the citizens? That action, combined with the 800 concentration camps, means exactly what?

Survive Martial Law

The crux of the problem is that FEMA had the power to turn the United States into a police state, and it was done quietly over a few years. Lt. Col. North virtually established the apparatus for dictatorship. Only the criticism of the Attorney General prevented the plans from being adopted years ago, but intelligence reports indicate that FEMA has a folder with 22 Executive Orders the President has just to sign to use in case of an emergency... even made up ones. It is believed those Executive Orders contain the framework of North's concepts... the stage is truly set and the troops are on US soil. Most are Russian, Eastern European, Asian, and a few from other countries. I have personally talked to some in Nebraska.

The crisis, as the government now sees it, is “civil unrest.” For generations, the government was concerned with nuclear war, but the violent and disruptive demonstrations that surrounded the Vietnam War era prompted President Nixon to change the direction of emergency powers from war time to times of domestic unrest. Diana Reynolds, program director of the Edward R. Murrow Center, summed up the dangers of FEMA today and the public reaction to Martial Law: "It was James Madison's worst nightmare that a righteous faction would someday be strong enough to sweep away the Constitutional restraints designed by the framers to prevent the tyranny of centralized power, excessive privilege, an arbitrary governmental authority over the individual. These restraints, the balancing and checking of powers among branches and layers of government, and the civil guarantees, would be the first casualties in a national security state with Mr. Bush's Civil Emergency Preparedness unleashed". Nevertheless, there would be those who would welcome NSC (National Security Council) into a fray, believing that increasing state police powers to emergency levels is the only way left to fight American's perceived enemy within. In the short run, a national security state would probably be a relief to those whose personal security and quality of life has been diminished by crime. And, as the general public watches the progression of institutional chaos and social decay, they too may be willing to pay the ultimate price, “one crime-free America for 200 years of democracy.” Hitler did the same “security” scam.

The first targets in any FEMA emergency would be Hispanics and Blacks. The FEMA orders call for them to be rounded up and detained and/or executed. Tax protesters, demonstrators against government or military intervention outside U.S. borders, and people who maintain weapons in their homes are also targets. If a house-to-house search for weapons happens, which is certain to be part of Martial Law, and your ".38" and shotgun are found, what will you do? Eight of us used to take on 50 NVA in Vietnam and win! You might be able to stop a few hungry people with your little home arsenal, but if the Military Police find them, you and your family could be killed or at best, going to a Concentration Camp where you will likely be in severe distress... probably dead. It's a decision you'll have to make. If they are combat grade, you might wrap and bury them. If they are what most people have, do you take them to the Police Station or keep them...? YOU must get informed and make a decision. I can't recommend anything to you on this subject other than that people who readily complied with orders did curry favor - which you may need. In Central America when we found guns, we immediately took you outside and shot you. How's that for a reality check? As I've said, getting guns later will not be a problem and besides, since you don't have a class three weapons permit, you don't have the heavy stuff anyway, so what's the big deal? Operation Trojan Horse is a program designed to learn the identity of potential opponents to Martial Law and includes gun owners and, right this minute, cell phones and computers are monitored. They know what your email says. Some programs lure potential protesters into public forums conducted by a "hero" of the people, like public figures who advocate survival training. They "allow" them to speak out, so they can record all who attend or listen. The lists of names gathered at such meetings and rallies are computerized and then targeted for the emergency. That means you will likely go to the Camps! It's a tactic refined by other developing dictatorships. These men are totally sincere and are bold in their assertions, but the end result is that their actions cost many lives.

The most shining example of America to the world has been its peaceful transition of government from one administration to another. Despite crises of great magnitude, the United States has maintained its freedom and liberty. This nation now stands on the threshold of possible rule by non-elected people asserting non-Constitutional powers. For the first time in American history, the reigns of government may not be transferred from one elected element to another. The Constitution, itself, can be suspended and, if the actions are performed to get you to believe there will be another election, then you are not listening and reading the real truth. If it does happen, it would all be for show, nothing else. It doesn't matter if you think your great vote is going to count for something. The leaders are decided already by the Power-Elite. You can believe it or not. You can spend your time campaigning, supporting, and all that time-wasting stuff when you need to be getting ready for the trained army and protecting your family. Great ideas are there, and they sound awfully good and tend to motivate us to some action but, in truth, Bush, along with his buddies, the Power-Elite, will make the choice. Don't you understand? America is no longer in the hands of the people. Bush was, as I've been told by solid sources, short by an enormous amount of votes in the last election, but who is President? Why do you think that is? I don't know for sure... do you?

Again, why are there foreign troops here, why did the Government build Concentration Camps, why, why, why? As I said in the beginning, there are scary things in the works, and we've come to the end of a decades long project... it happened with Executive Orders while we were sleeping. Mr. Bush had Congress scared like rabbits when he forced Directive 51 down their throats and made his own law! How on earth did he get away with it? My friend with the Secret Service told me startling things, and then he left the country, his house and cars, took a few bags, and is now on a freighter somewhere with his family, but safe. You think 9/11 brought people to their knees - wait until they pop the next program, whatever it might be, which will start everything I've been talking about.

The scenarios established to trigger FEMA into action are generally found in society today; economic collapse, civil unrest, drug problems, so-called terrorist attacks, and protests against American intervention in a foreign country. All these premises exist, so it is only a matter of time before one of these things triggers the entire emergency necessary to bring FEMA into action, and then it will be too late, because under the FEMA plan...

Survive Martial Law

There is no contingency by which Constitutional power is restored.

After the first few months, the terrible crisis will level off, and the supplies we need to survive will become available in modest amounts and continue to increase. I am going to try to get you through those awful months when there will be nothing, and nobody will care because everything will be a mess. The Military is practicing to ignore (using actors) people making pleas for food, medicine and other things they need for their lives. I saw a mock-up video where actors were screaming “we want food, we want food” and the soldiers just looked away ignoring them. It is being exercised by all the so-called National Guard and Foreign Troops assigned to create a relatively peaceful “transition” period.

Has America been a Police State?

Most Americans believe we live in dangerous times, and I must agree. I want to talk about how I see those dangers and the fact that Congress can't or won't do anything about them. Of course, the Monday-morning quarterbacks are now explaining, with political overtones, what we should have done to prevent the 9/11 tragedy. Unfortunately, in doing so, foreign policy changes are never considered. I have, for more than two decades, been very interested in our post-World War II foreign policy. I have perceived it to be not in our best interest and have believed that it presented a serious danger to our security. I was right.

Our commercial interests and foreign policy are no longer separate...as bad as it is that average Americans are forced to subsidize such a system, we additionally are placed in greater danger because of our policy of bombing nations that do not submit to our wishes. This generates hatred directed toward America ...and exposes us to a greater threat of terrorism, since this is the only vehicle our victims can use to retaliate against a powerful military state...the cost in terms of lost liberties and unnecessary exposure to terrorism is difficult to assess, but soon, it will become apparent to all of us that foreign interventionism was of no benefit to American citizens, but instead took our liberties. My concerns are as relevant today as they were then. We should move with caution in this created post-9/11 period so we do not make our problems worse overseas while our liberties erode at home.

So far our post-9/11 policies have challenged the rule of law in this country, and our efforts against al Qaeda have essentially come up empty-handed... probably because they work for America's secret society. The best we can tell now is that, instead of being in one place, the members of al Qaeda are scattered around the world, with more of them in our "ally", Pakistan, than in Afghanistan. Haven't we learned that, regardless of our massive firepower, we cannot win a guerrilla war? Our efforts to find our enemies have put the CIA in 80 different countries. The question that we must answer some day is whether we can catch enemies faster than we make new ones. So far it appears we are losing but, in truth, it doesn't matter. The New World Order is taking over the world in coming months. If they make it work, those left alive will serve the so-called elite.

As evidence mounts that we have achieved little in reducing the terrorist threat, more diversionary tactics will be used. The big one will be to blame everyone for everything and initiate a major war against Iran, which will only generate even more hatred toward America from the Muslim world and cause World War III. That's how it's looking, folks... a country under martial law warring with the world. Where do you think this is all going to end up?

But our focus now is America as a police state and how you and your family can live through it all ... how to really live through the coming major political changes as Martial Law creates a situation where supplies, etc. will not be available. I'm sure the large majority of Americans think "It can't happen here", but just wait and see. Most would associate military patrols, martial law and summary executions with a violent kind of police state, something obviously not present yet in our everyday activities. However, if you haven't seen serious changes nearly every day, then you are in denial. My main motive in writing this is to give basic pointers on your personal survival and to help you understand why it will shortly become a shocking reality.

Survive Martial Law

The principal tool for sustaining a police state and eroding it into the most militant Martial Law is always economic control and punishment by denying disobedient citizens such things as jobs or places to live, and by levying fines and imprisonment. The military is most often used in the transition phase to a totalitarian state. Maintenance for long periods is usually accomplished through economic controls on commercial transactions, the use of all property, and political dissent. Peaceful control through these efforts can be achieved without storm troopers on our street corners. “It has started as a prison without bars”.

Terror and fear are used to achieve complacency and obedience, especially when citizens are deluded into believing they are still a free people. The changes, they are assured, will be minimal, short-lived, and necessary, such as those that occur in times of a declared war. Under these conditions, most citizens believe that once the war is won, the restrictions on their liberties will be reversed. For the most part, however, after a declared war is over, the return to normalcy is never complete. In an undeclared war, without a precise enemy and therefore no precise ending, returning to normalcy can prove illusory.

We have just concluded a century of wars, declared and undeclared, while at the same time responding to public outcries for more economic equity. The question, as a result of these policies, is: "Are we already living in a form of a police state?" Of course we are and have been for years. Most police states, surprisingly, come about through the democratic process with "majority support". They are sold a story that their "safety" is the reason for a "short term" change. During a crisis, the rights of individuals and the minority are more easily trampled, which is more likely to condition a nation to become a police state under Martial Law rather than a military coup. Promised benefits initially seem to exceed the cost in dollars or lost freedom. When people face terrorism or great fear- from whatever source - the tendency to demand economic and physical security over liberty and self-reliance proves irresistible. The masses are easily led to believe that security and liberty are mutually exclusive, and demand for security far exceeds that for liberty.

Survive Martial Law

Once it's discovered that the desire for both economic and physical security that prompted the sacrifice of liberty inevitably led to the loss of prosperity and no real safety, it's too late. Reversing the trend from authoritarian rule toward a free society becomes very difficult, takes a long time, and entails much suffering. Although dissolution of the Soviet empire was relatively non-violent at the end, millions suffered from police suppression and economic deprivation in the decades prior to 1989.

Yet what about here in the United States? With respect to a police state and certainly Martial Law, where are we and where are we going?

Let me make a few minor observations:

Our government already keeps close tabs on just about everything we do and requires official permission for nearly all of our activities.

One might take a look at our Capitol for any evidence of a police state. We see: barricades, metal detectors, police, and military soldiers at times, dogs, ID badges required for every move, vehicles checked at airports and throughout the Capitol. The people are totally disarmed, except for the police and the criminals... but worse yet, surveillance cameras in Washington and other cities are everywhere to ensure our so-called safety. This will be the reality for all American cities in a short time.

The terrorist attacks only provided the "cover" for the do-gooders who have been planning for a long time to monitor us "for our own good." Cameras are used to spy on our drug habits, on our kids at school, on subway travelers, and on visitors to every government building or park. There's not much evidence of an open society in Washington, DC, yet most folks do not complain - anything goes if it's for government-provided safety and security.

If this huge amount of information and technology is placed in the hands of the government to catch the bad guys, one naturally asks... What is the big deal? But it should be a big deal, because it eliminates the enjoyment of privacy that a free society holds dear. The personal information of law-abiding citizens can be used for reasons other than safety - including political reasons. People-control hurts law-abiding citizens much more than the law-breakers. Why are there now blimps with cameras that see through walls over many cities? What do you think they want to see?

Social Security numbers are used to monitor our daily activities. The numbers are given at birth, and then are needed when we die and for everything in between. This allows government record keeping of monstrous proportions and accommodates the thugs who would steal others' identities for criminal purposes. This has happened to me twice! This invasion of privacy has been compounded by the technology now available to those in government who enjoy monitoring and directing the activities of others. Loss of personal privacy was a major problem long before 9/11.

Centralized control and regulations are required in a police state. Community and individual state regulations are not as threatening as the monolith of rules and regulations written by Congress and the federal bureaucracy. Law and order has been federalized. So what do you think that means?

Almost all of our economic activities depend upon receiving the proper permits from the federal government. Transactions involving guns, food, medicine, smoking, drinking, hiring, firing, wages, politically correct speech, land use, fishing, hunting, buying a house, business mergers and acquisitions, selling stocks and bonds, and farming all require approval and strict regulation from our federal government. If this is not done properly and in a timely fashion, economic penalties and even imprisonment are likely consequences.

Because government pays for much of our health care (via Social Security, welfare and other public programs), it's conveniently argued that any habits or risk-taking that could harm one's health are the prerogative of the federal government and are to be regulated by explicit rules to keep medical-care costs down.

This same argument is used to require helmets for riding motorcycles and bikes. Not only do we need a license to drive, but we also need special belts, bags, buzzers, seats and environmentally dictated speed limits, or a policeman will be pulling us over to levy a fine, and he will be toting a gun for sure.

The states do exactly as they're told by the federal government, because they are threatened with the loss of tax dollars being returned to their state - dollars that should have never been sent to DC in the first place, let alone used to extort obedience to a powerful federal government.

Over 80,000 federal bureaucrats now carry guns to make us toe the line and to enforce the thousands of laws and tens of thousands of regulations that no one can possibly understand. We don't see the guns, but we all know they're there, and we all know we can't fight "City Hall," especially if it's "Uncle Sam."

All 18-year-old males must register to be ready for the next undeclared war. If they don't, men with guns will appear and enforce this congressional mandate. "Involuntary servitude" was banned by the 13th Amendment, but courts don't apply this prohibition to the servitude of draft registration or those citizens required to follow the dictates of the IRS - especially the employers of the country, who serve as the federal government's chief tax collectors and information gatherers. Fear is the tool used to intimidate most Americans to comply with the tax code by making examples of celebrities, which becomes big-time news.

Economic threats against business establishments are notorious. Rules and regulations from the EPA, the ADA, the SEC, the LRB, OSHA, etc. terrorize business owners into submission, and those charged accept their own guilt until they can prove themselves innocent. Of course, it turns out it's much more practical to admit guilt and pay the fine. This serves the interest of the authoritarians because it firmly establishes just who is in charge!

Survive Martial Law

Information leaked from a government agency like the FDA can make or break a company within minutes. If information is leaked, even inadvertently, a company can be destroyed, and individuals involved in revealing government-monopolized information can be sent to prison. Even though economic crimes are serious offenses in the United States, violent crimes sometimes evoke more sympathy and fewer penalties. Just look at the O.J. Simpson case as an example.

Efforts to convict Bill Gates and others like him of an economic crime are astounding, considering his contribution to economic progress, while sources used to screen out terrorist elements from our midst are tragically useless... probably because we all know who the terrorists are. If business people are found guilty of even the suggestion of collusion in the marketplace, huge fines and even imprisonment are likely consequences.

Price fixing is impossible to achieve in a free market. Under today's laws, talking to or consulting with competitors can be easily construed as "price fixing" and involve a serious crime, even with proof that the so-called collusion never generated monopoly-controlled prices or was detrimental to consumers. Lawfully circumventing taxes, even sales taxes, can lead to serious problems if a high-profile person can be made an example.

One of the most serious controls placed on American citizens is the control of speech through politically correct legislation. Derogatory remarks or off-color jokes are justification for firings, demotions, and the destruction of political careers, and lately many remarks have been criminalized. The movement toward designating penalties based on the category to which victims belong, rather than the nature of the crime itself, has the "thought police" patrolling the airways and byways. Establishing relative rights and special penalties for subjective motivation is a dangerous trend.

All our financial activities are subject to "legal" searches without warrants and without probable cause. Tax collection, drug usage, and possible terrorist activities "justify" the endless accumulation of information on all Americans. The files fill buildings.

Survive Martial Law

Government control of medicine has prompted the establishment of the National Medical Data Bank. For efficiency reasons, it is said, the government keeps our medical records for our benefit. This, of course, is done with vague and useless promises that this information will always remain confidential - just like all the FBI information in the past! Now, it's the Homeland Security! After WWII many large buildings were found filled to the top with files and records on everything and everybody.

Personal privacy, the sine qua non of liberty, no longer exists in the United States. Ruthless and abusive use of all this information accumulated by the government is yet to come. The "Patriot Act" has given unbelievable power to listen, read, and monitor all our transactions without a search warrant being issued after affirmation of probable cause. "Sneak and peak" and blanket searches are now becoming more frequent every day. I see car searches all the time recently. What have we allowed to happen to the 4th amendment?

It may be true that the average American does not feel intimidated by the encroachment of the police state. I'm sure our citizens are more tolerant of what they see as mere nuisances because they have been deluded into believing all this government supervision is necessary and helpful - and besides, from a material standpoint, they are living quite comfortably. However, the reaction will be different once all this new legislation we're passing comes into full force, and the material comforts that soften our concerns for government regulations are decreased. This attitude then will change dramatically, but the trend toward the authoritarian state will be impossible to reverse.

What government gives with one hand - as it attempts to provide safety and security- it must, at the same time, take away with the other. When the majority recognizes the monetary cost and realizes that the results of our war against terrorism and personal freedoms were a lot less than promised, it will certainly be too late.

Survive Martial Law

I'm sure all my concerns are unconvincing to the vast majority of Americans, who not only are seeking but also are demanding they be "made safe" from any possible attack from anybody, ever. I grant you this might be a reasonable request. The point is, however, that there may be a much better way of doing it. Please believe me, we're not the target because we're "free and prosperous".

The argument made for more government controls here at home and expansionism overseas to combat terrorism is simple and goes like this: "If we're not made safe from potential terrorists, property and freedom have no meaning." It is argued that first we must have life and physical and economic security, with continued abundance, then "we'll talk about freedom". That's not the way it works. "Freedom does not preclude security". Making security the highest priority can deny prosperity and still fail to provide the safety we all want.

The Congress (if they were honest and would quit being so fearful) would now (because of recent events) agree that we are a police state. But we are all obligated to decide in which direction we are going. If we're moving toward a system that enhances individual liberty and justice for all, my learned concerns about a police state should be reduced or totally ignored. Yet if, by chance, we're moving toward more authoritarian control than is good for us and moving toward a major war this fall (winter at the latest) of which we should have no part, we should not ignore the dangers. There is too much proof to close our eyes. If current policies are permitting a serious challenge to our institutions that allow for our great abundance, we ignore them at great risk for future generations... of which there won't be any if we don't wake up and stop letting the government control us like babies.

The Department of Homeland Security is very scary, is nearly as powerful as the FEMA programs, and is similar in some ways to Hitler's SS troops. The destruction coming from all these people could be a concern... in a short time we'll see in which direction they will go and just how much force will be used.

Since the new department is now a foregone conclusion, why should anyone bother to record a dissent? Because it's the responsibility of all of us to speak the truth to our best ability, and if there are reservations about what we're doing, we should sound an alarm and warn the people of what is to come. It is, however, much too late. Opposition could very likely have serious consequences. These people are not playing and, like FEMA, are using combatants from other countries because the men in charge don't exclusively trust the American National Guard to control fellow Americans. Consequently, foreign troops are the ones who will search our homes and dictate our movements. They may kill us if we don't toe the line.

In times of crisis, nearly unanimous support for government programs is usual, and the effects are instantaneous. Discovering the error of our ways and waiting to see the unintended consequences evolve takes time and careful analysis. Reversing the bad effects is slow and tedious and fraught with danger. People would much prefer to hear platitudes than the pessimism of a flawed policy. There will be a government planned (or perhaps just allowed) executed event to trigger the FEMA and Homeland Security teams' control of America, and it will happen very soon. For real, folks... just a very short time but surely before spring at the latest!! I'm going to show you some things to help you at least stay alive with probably some degree of freedom for your family.

Understanding the real reason why we were attacked is crucial to crafting a proper response. I know of no one who does not condemn the attacks of 9/11. Disagreement as to the cause and the proper course of action should be legitimate in a free society such as ours. If not, we're not a free society. Was 9/11 done by the US Military to test the ability to control us and make puppets out of Americans or did it come from the Eastern countries' bullshit story? Whatever the origin, it worked perfectly.

But I am deeply concerned about what has been done and what we are yet to do in the name of security against the threat of terrorism. I asked my doctor if she'd give up her freedoms for a promise of security and she said, "Why, of course". She is one who will not have food stored and since she is low-level, will eat handfuls from the back of a truck or likely starve.

Survive Martial Law

Political propagandizing is used to get all of us to toe the line and be good "patriots," supporting every measure suggested by the administration. We are told that preemptive strikes, torture, military tribunals, suspension of habeas corpus, executive orders to wage war, and sacrificing privacy with a dead 4th Amendment are the minimum required to save our country from the threat of terrorism.

Who's winning this war, anyway?

To get popular support for these serious violations of our traditional rule of law requires that people be kept in a state of fear. The episode of spreading undue concern about the possibility of a dirty bomb being exploded in Washington without any substantiation of an actual threat is a good example of excessive fear being generated by government officials. We are like sheep going to slaughter.

The main reason why so many usually levelheaded critics of bad policy accept this massive increase in government power is clear. They, for various reasons, believe the official explanation for "Why us?" The several hundred al Qaeda members, we were told, hate us because, "We're rich, we're free, we enjoy materialism, and the purveyors of terror are jealous and envious, creating the hatred that drives their cause. They despise our Christian-Judaic values and this is the sole reason why they are willing to die for their cause." For this to be believed, one must also be convinced that the perpetrators lied to the world about why they might have attacked us. Also, what about all the proofs of well-paid al Qaeda operatives working for America?

The al Qaeda regulars say they hate us because:

- We support Western puppet regimes in Arab countries for "commercial reasons" and against the wishes of the populace of these countries. America wants their oil for nothing and has manufactured hundreds of stories to distract the busy, hard working American who doesn't really understand what is going on anyway. All of it is about

Survive Martial Law

OIL... nothing else! The al Qaeda soldier doesn't know anything either, except for what he's told.

- This partnership allows a military occupation, the most confrontational being in Saudi Arabia, and that offends their sense of pride and violates their religious convictions by having a foreign military power on their holy land. We refuse to consider how we might feel if China's navy occupied the Gulf of Mexico for the purpose of protecting "their oil" and had air bases on U.S. territory. US policy does not consider the lives and traditions of anyone. We've become the bullies of the world.
- We show extreme bias in support of one side in the fifty-plus-year war going on in the Middle East. Since all we want is their OIL, we can't mind our own business but make up horrid tales of them attacking us. The Joe-Blow of America believes every word. He, however, will starve while, since you've stayed with me this far, you'll learn how to survive.

What if al Qaeda is telling the truth and we ignore it? If we believe only the official line from the administration and proceed to change our whole system and allow others to undermine our constitutional rights, we may one day wake up to find that the attacks have increased, the numbers of those willing to commit suicide for their cause have grown, our freedoms are diminished, and all this has contributed to making our economic problems irreparable. You just can't keep on kicking an innocent dog. He will bite. The dollar cost of this "war" will turn out to be exorbitant, and the efficiency of our markets will be undermined by the compromises placed on our liberties... but do we care or have time to care? We've been brainwashed, folks, and the hammer is about to fall because we have let it. Because you were playing little league, our country is going under Martial Law!!! All this didn't just happen by chance. You let it!

The question that one day must be answered is this: What if we had never placed our troops in Saudi Arabia and Iraq and now just maybe Iran and God knows where else? We didn't mind our own business because there were multi-billions of dollars at stake... to hell with the murders of hundreds of thousands of women, old people and especially, little children - "Money is now our God".

The help I can give you is very simple and will very likely save your life. I will list the things you'll absolutely need at the end of this piece. This, for me, is not a reactive position coming out of all the insane controls we've allowed, but rather is an argument I've made for decades, claiming that meddling in the affairs of others is dangerous to our security and actually reduces our ability to defend ourselves. We can't seem to mind our own business. Financial interests of our international corporations, oil companies, and banks, along with the military-industrial complex, are sure to remain a deciding influence on our policies, but we too will fall under the massive thumb of those "in charge"... the real elite money men who control everything. Most don't know they exist, but they do.

President Kennedy faced an even greater threat in October 1962, and from a powerful force. The Soviet/Cuban terrorist threat with nuclear missiles only 90 miles off our shores was wisely defused by Kennedy's capitulating and removing missiles from Turkey on the Soviet border. Kennedy deserved the praise he received for the way he handled the nuclear standoff with the Soviets. This concession most likely prevented a nuclear exchange and proved that "taking a step back" from a failed policy is beneficial. Yet how one does so is crucial. The answer is to do it diplomatically-- that's what diplomats are supposed to do. But JFK had other great ideas. One was to eliminate the Federal Reserve, and it has been written many times that, because of messing with the holders of the world's money, he was murdered.

Today's conditions may well be exactly what our world commercial interests want. It's now easy for us to go into the Philippines, Columbia, Pakistan, Afghanistan, or wherever in pursuit of so-called terrorists with no questions asked by the media or the politicians-- only cheers. Put in these terms, who can object? We all despise the tactics of the terrorists, so the nature of the response is not to be questioned! Just wait a short while, and one morning you will certainly wake up to violent Martial Law. The plans are laid, the troops are ready, and the minds of many are conditioned for mass murder.

A growing number of Americans are concluding that the threat we now face comes more as a consequence of our foreign policy than because the bad guys envy our freedoms and prosperity. How many terrorist attacks have been directed toward Switzerland, Australia, Canada, or Sweden? They too are rich and free, and would be easy targets, but the Islamic fundamentalists see no purpose in doing so. They are free countries and will remain so, but not for long. The New World Order will devour them also. The Military control of the USA has been in the making for many years and is finally ready to launch.

According to all the pundits, we are expected to champion this big-government approach, and if we don't jolly well like it, we will be tagged "unpatriotic." The fear that permeates our country cries out for something to be done in response to almost daily warnings of the "next attack". If it's not a real attack, then it's a theoretical one; one where the bomb could well be only in the mind of a potential terrorist or more likely, a politician... but it will do the same thing. It will drive us to our protector, but we don't realize it will be at the point of a gun.

There is no need for us to be forced to choose between security and freedom. Giving up freedom does not provide greater security. Preserving and better understanding freedom can. Sadly today, many are anxious to give up freedom in response to real and generated fears... so that's what we will all get!

The plans for a first strike supposedly against a potential foreign government should alarm all Americans. If we do not resist this power the President is assuming, our President, through executive orders, can start a war anyplace, anytime, against anyone he chooses, for any reason, without congressional approval. This is a tragic usurpation of the war power by the executive branch from the legislative branch, with Congress being all too accommodating. However, Mr. Bush has "Directive 51" in his back pocket, which is his ticket to do anything he chooses.

Survive Martial Law

Removing the power of the executive branch to wage war, as was done through our Revolution and the writing of the Constitution, is now being casually sacrificed on the altar of “security”. In a free society, and certainly in the constitutional republic we have been given, it should never be assumed that the President alone can take it upon himself to wage war whenever he pleases. So where were you 6 years ago when we all should have exercised taking control back for our country? Yes, not doing a damn thing! Face it... you were playing and allowing power hungry men to make the rules, and now I am going to try to save your life because that is the position we are facing. I suggest you listen!

Planned assassination, a preemptive strike policy without proof of any threat, and a vague definition of terrorism may work for us as long as we're king of the hill, but one must assume every other nation will naturally use our definition of policy as justification for dealing with their neighbors. India can justify a first strike against Pakistan, China against India or Taiwan, as well as many other such examples. This new policy will make the world dangerous, and America as we know it will be a vague memory, as many of us are confined, killed and forced into serving the elite. There's a name for the end of all this, “The New World Order”.

So, is America now an authoritarian police state?

Our concern ought to be whether we have laid the foundation of a more docile police state, but really, what will we do during the transition of government? In a word... how will you stay alive? The love of liberty has been so diminished that we tolerate intrusions into our privacies today that would have been abhorred just a few years ago. Tolerance of inconvenience to our liberties is not uncommon when both personal and economic fear persists. The sacrifices being made to our liberties will surely usher in a system of government that will please only those who enjoy being in charge of running other people's lives.

When the government keeps detailed records on every move we make, and we either need advance permission for everything we do or are penalized for not knowing what the rules are, America is declared a Police State/Martial Law. Personal privacy for law-abiding citizens will be a thing of the past. Enforcement of laws against economic and political crimes will exceed that of violent crimes (just look at what's coming under the new FEC law). War will be the prerogative of the administration. Civil liberties will be suspended and their prosecution will not be carried out by an independent judiciary. In a police state, this becomes common practice rather than a rare incident... So forget it and use your energy for your own survival because the momentum towards the monolithic state cannot be reversed.

There will be a quite a few months or longer of transition where FOOD will be nearly impossible to get. Look today at what's happened worldwide to the main food stores like wheat, corn, barley, rice and many other commodities. There is a serious famine coming in 2008. The USA used to have a 7 year supply of basic food surplus, but it's now less than 12-15 weeks!!! What I am advising, since electric and gas will likely be unavailable at times, is to buy as many hundreds of dollars of canned foods and other sealed things as possible from the items listed below. Buy all you can - scrape up the money, cash CD's, borrow, or beg but get the money and do it now or your family will likely starve to death during the transition period. It will last many months.

Canned chili is good as is baked beans. Beans are protein so will keep you alive. Get several quart jars and sprouter lids and about 10 pounds of sprouts per person. They are packed with nutrients up to the 7th day, when the value decreases. You need the nutrients they provide. Buy many pounds each of alfalfa, radish, red clover, broccoli and mung seeds. If in cold weather, keep the jars inside your coat next to your body. Sprouts are among the very best foods on earth. Survive, damn it! Buy lots of dried fruits, many big bags or boxes of dry milk, and lots and lots of nuts. Get 50 pounds of rolled oats per person (soak in water/w dry milk and honey and nuts), add molasses or honey, and you'll have a great meal, but put in a teaspoon of oil. Buy some sugar and anything that doesn't require cooking. If you can, get enough for a year. Get a very good multiple vitamin like "Megafood" for each person. If water is short in your area, buy a basement full of 5 gallon plastic cans and, if water is available, get a good gravity filter (British Berkefeld is best).

Don't wait until tomorrow... do it today! Go to several grocery stores and fill carts and carts with canned or boxed, dried foods, paper products and anything you can eat without preparation other than opening the can or package... that is where your real security will lie. It is very critical you do this immediately because you can't stop this horrid machine. Get all the food you can because your extended family will probably not have anything. You can barter with it. Don't fill your freezer because the chance of electricity going off is great if even for a short time. We aren't exactly sure when the date will occur, and the shelves of all stores will be stripped clean in a couple of hours!! When the word goes out, there will be a run on the stores, and you and your family will have no help. Life still looks OK now, but soon you'll wake up to disaster and will slowly die if you don't get ready well in advance of when the hammer falls! It's happened in many countries, and it's here in America NOW... be prepared!!!

VERY IMPORTANT... NEVER TELL A SOUL YOU HAVE STORED FOODS. Crush, tear any evidence of it, and hide it or bury smashed cans. If you must, hide your foods behind scraps of junk in old buildings, a little here and a little there. Have a map and hide it well. If everything is in one place and it's found, they have it all! Storing it in the insulation of your attic is a good place to put it. Stash it in several places, even away from your home because excess supplies will be taken in the door to door searches. Use paper plates (buy hundreds and also plastic spoons and bury these too). DON'T TRUST EVEN YOUR MOTHER. She could tell her friend who might tell her son who would tell the guy up the street and you guess it from there. Remember, when people are severely hungry they are different people. They will easily kill you for your supplies and if you open your big mouth, you'll be responsible for anything that happens... so shut up starting right now. Never say one word!! Keep your family quiet but better not to tell children, especially teens... never, under any circumstances, tell a teen or child anything about your stores. Do not tell them where you get their foods, but say it was given to you. Get plenty of aspirin and needed medications as best you can. Tell your Doctor you're going to Burma for 8 months - get loaded up and conserve. Take less. Get sleeping bags for warmth if that's a concern. Be sure to have the best can opener available. Think of any basics you need for the transition period until things level off. Don't, and I mean DON'T, eat too much. If others see you healthy while everyone is suffering, they'll wonder why, so BE CAREFUL.

Survive Martial Law

We will have a 2 year supply, well hidden, and a British Berkefeld water filter, probably the best around for about $175 or so and worth 10 times that. It will make sewer water drinkable. You may as well forget about going to a different country because they will be controlled by the New World Order soon. Save yourself and the lives of your family! Be one of the survivors. Since you didn't do anything when you could, it's too late. Try to stay alive and learn to love each other. I went to a regular grocery last night and found plenty of things to eat without cooking. In the beginning, however, there could be gas and electric. As long as you can cook, eat dry beans and spiced rice with a little ground beef. Use all the things you can cook first, so have plenty. I've made this list of what I found, but figure on about 300-360 pounds per 6 months for one person of average size and adjust a little for kids, but remember they are growing and require more than an adult... especially teens.. Calculate your own list, as each will be different. Put a reasonable amount in your cupboards and kitchen storage, but don't make it look like you've taken in supplies. Use your brain. A great place to hide things is in the insulation in your attic. Otherwise, buy large plastic containers and your shovel and go do hard work. Dig holes in your yard in many places (keep a detailed map in a safe place and list what you have where), then put the containers in and cover up and replace the grass or garden mix. It's that simple. I've been in places I just knew had foods stored but had no idea where so didn't pursue it.

Some things to eat while your stove works are:

- Hard vegetables like carrots, potatoes, winter squash, sweet potatoes, and lots of hard apples
- Rice and beans together with a little meat and NO PREPARED and easy food. It's garbage and will suck your health. Keep it basic and learn to eat the same things over and over. Cook a roast if you must and have that meatloaf while you can, but be sure you have a few hundred pounds of dry beans (you can even sprout them) and the same for rice... more if you can.
- Dry peas like lentils and split peas with a little ham.
- Lots of peanut butter and jam to go on sealed crackers

Survive Martial Law

Foods for when you can't cook:

- Many big cans of good chili w/meat, 'corned beef', lots of sardines, couple cases of salmon
- Lots of rolled oats in round cardboard cans to eat with water, dry milk, honey (you can live OK with Oats, dry milk and honey), lots of Muesli and other well-sealed cereal
- Cases of cans of baked spiced beans, cans of various whole beans (lots)
- Dry milk, cans of evaporated milk, lots of boxes of soy milk, as it keeps on the shelf, whole juice drinks (not the junk stuff), big jars of tea and instant chocolate drink, instant coffee and creamer
- Big jars of crushed garlic, lots of dried herbs and spices, lots of dried soybeans and soy nuts (excellent), onions, many, many pounds of canned nuts, boxes of sealed fatty crackers, cans of cranberry sauce, jelly/jam, honey, condiments like pickles, veggies, olives, small jars of mayo, cans of hot peppers, salad mixes in jars, salt/pepper, vanilla, etc.
- Raisins, chocolate chunks and candy, apple sauce, dry cheese, dry prunes and other fruits and goodies to taste (You'll be 'in' for a long time.)
- Olive oil (Everyone should take a tablespoon per day... This is critical as you absolutely MUST have the fats, and this is without exception. Get several gallon cans of olive oil, not corn or other.)
- Paper goods: paper plates and spoons
- Soaps and cleaners, lots of terry rags, toilet paper, boxes of baby wipes for sanitation, personal care and feminine hygiene products
- Whatever else you decide on, but be sure to get the items listed above.

Remember the 300 plus pounds per person for 6 months and select a balanced food program for each person. Go heavy on protein (beans and rice is a complete protein). It's balanced. Get a little of lots of things plus your oil and you'll be OK. Forget the oil and you'll be sick and could die from what's called "rabbit starvation". You will know what else, if anything, you'll want but what is so very important is to DO IT IMMEDIATELY. Do your list tonight, stay home tomorrow, get the foods, and spend the next couple of days hiding it. If you don't need it for a couple of months, so what! The day is coming when there will be a run on stores and you'll be ready. Do it NOW!!! You need about 700 plus pounds per person for a year and access to a gallon of water a day.

I've listed a number of things, and you certainly don't need everything, but have food in groups like:

- Protein: milk, beans, rice, nuts, etc. (Buy some cans of protein powder, too.)
- Fruits, but only the dried kind except for a big bag of hard good quality apples
- Peanut butter and crackers – lots!
- Fresh hard vegetables for the beginning
- Pintos and rice for the beginning and longer if you have heat - Some cultures eat nearly all beans and rice with OIL (very critical).
- Sweets, spices and flavorings
- Cans of pink salmon, chili, beans, some vegetables, meats... lots!
- Medications of several varieties (including any needed prescription medicines) - What you have will be all you have!

Do a comprehensive list for all your family and don't forget goodies and OIL. I keep on about the OIL, as it is critical. Make your list balanced with just whole, good foods. Spend whatever you can - even if it hurts. Go the distance. If you get overwhelmed, remember the troops, and don't forget to be submissive and polite and wait for a better day. I wish you great peace and hope all goes well for you. And don't forget to have plenty of books, magazines, paper/pens, and games as you'll have lots of down time. Learn to get along. Withhold supplies from anyone causing problems. You have the power... don't let anyone ruin the peace. Keep teens home and if it comes to it, cut all their clothes up to keep them in. Laws are suspended so you can kick their butts without problems!

Remember, be polite and don't look into the eyes of combatants or those in control and don't cause any problems and don't have any guns. They will for sure be found. Think before you do anything. Walk slowly and say 'sir' to everyone. You let this happen, so now you'll live with it. Learn to read again; have some books and wait for this awful thing to level off. I repeat... Never tell teenagers anything... a sign in front telling the world you have food will work as well. Do not feed their friends... EVER, even if they are starving. I've learned this from being aware of why some died and others didn't. Don't take crap from kids - especially teens. They've become undisciplined monsters... some of them anyway. I promise you, teens will tell, and then it's off to the camps... one way. Take care of your family and wait for the time to pass. Do not cause anyone any trouble... period! STAY ALIVE. "Better to be a live dog than a dead lion". Hope in a sane future, so don't confront anyone. MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS!!! That is not being cowardly, as the time to be a "hero" has passed. You have what you have, so deal with it. I honestly believe if you don't do what I tell you, then you and your family will die. I've been there in a few countries and have seen the needless bodies. Get what I told you and, again... MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS. Be respectful even to the asshole young troops. If a trooper gives you a gift, be very thankful and tear up. Be humble and be gentle in your hearts, but still... DON'T FEED A KID WHO IS NOT YOUR OWN, NO MATTER WHAT OR WHAT YOU ARE TOLD.

Good luck, and I wish you health and happiness and hope for when this awful time passes. Things will seem OK until that morning you wake to total control and the foods are stripped from the shelves. Buy it NOW... within the next 2 days. Do it!!! Remember to act with respect around the troops controlling you.
